Eph 6:10-20

4 Macc 13:9-17 (NRSV) <sup>9</sup>“Brothers, let us die like brothers for the sake of the law; let us imitate the three youths in Assyria who despised the same ordeal of the furnace. <sup>10</sup>Let us not be cowardly in the demonstration of our piety.” <sup>11</sup>While one said, “Courage, brother,” another said, “Bear up nobly,” <sup>12</sup>& another reminded them, “Remember whence you came, & the father by whose hand Isaac would have submitted to being slain for the sake of piety.” <sup>13</sup>Each of them & all of them together looking at one another, cheerful & undaunted, said, “Let us with all our hearts consecrate ourselves to God, who gave us our lives, & let us use our bodies as a bulwark for the law. <sup>14</sup>Let us not fear him who thinks he is killing us, <sup>15</sup>for great is the soul’s contest & the danger of eternal torment lying before those who transgress the commandment of God. <sup>16</sup>Therefore let us put on the full armor of mastery of the passions that divine reason provides. <sup>17</sup>For if we so die, Abraham & Isaac & Jacob will welcome us, & all the fathers will praise us.”
